Topic: Standards Affecting Our Industries 9001-16949 - 14001 - 18001

Speaker: Dr. Rod Munro

About the Topic:

Our presenter this month has a long list of presentations, articles and books relating to the improvement of business operations. He will look at and share with us some of the linkages for the various national and international standards relating to management systems and how they are impacting our businesses. For many automotive companies, the environmental management system is already here, but what about the rest of us? For all of us, what is happening with the occupational health and safety standard? Dr. Munro will review these topics in an interesting perspective of where we might be heading.

Dr. Munro is also our ASQ National link through Region 10 and will give us a heads up on the new ASQ membership changes that have recently been approved by the ASQ Board of Directors.
